Biographical / Historical

Norma Broude (1941-) and Mary Garrard (1937-) are art historians and educators in Washington, D.C. Broude and Garrard were members of the WCA (Garrard was president from 1974-1976) which came into existence after a College Art Association meeting in San Francisco, California, 1972.

Scope and Contents

Papers compiled by Norma Broude, Mary Garrard, and Broude and Garrard together relating to the feminist art movement, especially the history of the Women's Caucus for Art (WCA). Files include a dossier formed by the Ad Hoc Committee of Women Artists (1972), reports, correspondence, meeting files, founding documents, surveys, committee records, conference records, newsletters, and subject files concerning "Slides of Works by Women Artists: A Sourcebook," 1974, by Garrard. Also included are subject files pertaining to various women's groups and organizations including the Washington Women's Art Center, Federation of Organizations for Professional Women, the National Museum of Women in the Arts, and the Feminist Art Institute.
