Biographical / Historical

Jan Gallione (1959-1994) was an painter and educator based in New York City and active through residencies throughout the United State and Europe.

Scope and Contents

This collection includes letter written by artist Jan Gallione to her friend Cynthia LeRoy from multiple locations throughout the United States and Europe. Letters date from 1978-1992. In most, Gallione describes events in some detail. Some are accompanied by photographs of Gallione, posing at historical sites in various locations. One postcard is altered, with Gallione's face collaged onto a postcard bearing the image a female figure. Gallione mentions significant institutions where she was active as an artist, art worker, and educator, such as Skowhegan School, Zabriskie Gallery, and the Fashion Institute of Technology.
