Biographical Note

Scope and Contents

The Lois W. Poinier Collection contains 1,089 35mm slides documenting before-and-after images of almost 100 gardens designed by garden designer and Garden Club of America member Lois W. Poinier of New Jersey. Most gardens are located in New Jersey, but there are some in California, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, and Rhode Island. The collection includes some gardens designed by Poinier's mother, Helen Page Wodell, and aunt, Lois Page Cottrell, who practiced under the firm name of Wodell & Cottrell. The collection is particularly helpful as it shows the evolution of gardens under construction and in their 'finished' state.

The collection also includes an album of images documenting gardens owned by Lois W. Poinier and her mother, Helen Page Wodell in New Jersey and Connecticut as well as an extensive slide lecture and script compiled by Poinier entitled "Ninety Years in a Garden" that documents the story and evolution of three of those gardens in New Jersey. Another series of glass lantern slides of numerous gardens dating from the 1920s and 1930s was used extensively for garden lecture purposes by both women. Finally, there are images by Lois W. Poinier of numerous private and public gardens throughout the United States and the United Kingdom that she visited.

Notes:

Designed by Lois W. Poinier, this garden features a two-level terrace on a hillside facing northeast. Three of the associated images are of the terrace prior to construction of an eighteen-inch high brick wall and the addition of flowering shrubs. The remaining three images, taken in spring, show the Glenn Dale white hybrid azalea 'Swansong', the Delaware Valley White Azalea, and Rhododendron periclymenoides (Pinxter azalea), as well as other plantings. The Pinxter azaleas were brought from their native woods to the site, where they flourished in the sunny conditions. This may have been the home of Thomas Wheeler Dewart, whose parents, William and Mary Dewart, purchased "Beausite" farm estate in 1931. The farm buildings and part of its stone walls may be seen in image CT298002.

Additional information about "Beausite" and the Dewart family may be found in the folder for CT120.

Notes: For this project Lois Poinier replaced an existing locust tree with a Prunus x subhirtella (Higan cherry). Additional plantings included ground cover, low shrubs, and daffodils. Before and after images show how small changes can create a different garden experience.

Garden designer: Poinier, Lois W.

Notes: Before and after images of new home construction show how a poorly graded site was amended by better grading, rebuilding of the stone stairs, selective removal of a few trees, and construction of a raised bed across the front of the house.

Persons associated with the garden include Lois W. Poinier (garden designer) and A. B. See (former owner).

CT301: Greenwich -- Stanley Garden

Garden designer: Poinier, Lois W.

Notes: Although the client wanted a sitting area and rose garden near the house, a large black walnut tree made this impossible. Designer Lois W. Poinier effected a compromise by placing a terrace farther out in the yard and backing it with a dry stone wall in front of which roses could be grown. Two 4-inch stone steps descended from the lawn area near the house to the terrace.

Notes: The folder includes worksheets, correspondence, and information about the history of the property.

Lois W. Poinier designed a terrace for Bull Farm's colonial-style house to feature a panoramic view of Mt. Washington in neighboring Connecticut. The terrace was anchored by a stone retaining wall with steps leading down to a lawn.

Persons associated with the garden include Lois W. Poinier (garden designer, ca. 1958-1962) and Ruth Baldwin Rathbone (former owner).

Notes:

The garden design for this new home incorporated water views as well as several distinctive features such as a swimming pool and rose garden. A stone wall defined the terrace on the water-side of the house, while the land-side approach via the driveway incorporated mature trees as well as native and non-native plantings of shrubs, grasses, and other vegetation. Images from a variety of seasons show garden design and construction as well as the completed work.

Persons associated with the garden include Lois W. Poinier (garden designer) and Henry Hamilton Hoyt and Anna Orcutt Hoyt (former owners). Lois W. Poinier also designed a garden for the Hoyts at their Short Hills, New Jersey, home (see NJ382).

Garden Poinier, Lois W.

designer:

Former owner: Alexander, John

Notes:

The folder includes work sheets and other information.

This garden was designed by Lois Poinier. Images document the site before, during, and after landscaping. A hillside children's play area was transformed into a terraced border, while the back of the house was replanted with a lawn and shrubs to complement the wooded setting. Railroad tie steps provided access between terrace levels.

Persons associated with the garden include: Lois Poinier (garden designer, 1973-1974) and John Alexander (former owner).

Garden designer: Poinier, Lois W.

Notes:

This enclosed garden was designed in an area prone to flood in storm tides. An existing willow was retained, while a small pool was installed under the tree. The images show the garden at different times and seasons, from before development to maturity. Also included are photos taken from outside the enclosed garden area.

Persons associated with the garden include Lois W. Poinier (garden designer) and James Crane Kellogg, III, and Elizabeth Rankin Irwin Kellogg (former owners).

NJ349: Bernardsville -- Hummel Garden

Garden designer: Poinier, Lois W.

Notes: Lois Poinier's design work for this project encompassed the entire exterior of the house. The "front" of the house included a walkway leading from the garage and parking area to the entrance door, an area defined by two L-shaped miniature stone walls and featuring two fast-growing but invasive Callery pear trees. The other side of the house, with its sweeping views of woodlands and distant hills, featured two terraces linked by stone steps and bordered by stone walls. The upper terrace was grass, while the smaller, lower one was of pea gravel and featured defined garden beds. Images show the site at various stages of development.

Persons associated with the garden include: Lois W. Poinier (garden designer, ca. 1969-70) and the Hummel family (former owners).

NJ371: Bernardsville -- Shirley Garden

Garden designer: Poinier, Lois W.

Notes: This site, amidst extensive woodlands, featured a terrace with views. A long dry stone wall separated the property from the road. Flowering shrubs, such as azaleas, were planted adjacent to the house. The photos were taken at at least two different times; note the different paint colors on the house shutters.

Persons associated with the garden include Lois W. Poinier (garden designer) and Carl and Betsy Shirley (former owners).

NJ387: Chester Township -- Forkner Garden

Garden designer: Poinier, Lois W.

Notes: Remodeling and construction of an addition to the house at this site led to new landscaping of the front and back of the property. In the front a new brick wall was constructed, an aging tree removed, and new plantings of shrubs introduced. In the back, the low boxwood Buxus microphylla var. Koreana was placed under a newly installed window. In harmony with the site's wooded setting Rhododendron carolinianum punctuated the hillside above the house.

Persons associated with the garden include Lois W. Poinier (garden designer) and Dr. Claude E. Forkner, Jr. and Joanne Shirley Forkner (former owners).

NJ334: Englewood -- Cory Garden

designer:

Notes: Images in this series document the construction and landscaping of a new, rambler style house on a wooded site with a steep slope. A driveway on the level front of the house was complemented by the installation of spring flowering trees and some shrubs, while still leaving the area open to the sun. At the back the property sloped steeply into surrounding woodlands. Here a stone retaining wall and terrace provided an area for outdoor living and enjoyment of the surrounding trees and shrubs, including native azaleas. Images document construction as well as the completed landscaping at different seasons.

Garden designer: Poinier, Lois W.

Notes: This project began with the removal of a barberry hedge and overgrown shrubs along the front of the house. A formerly grassy circle in the middle of the driveway was planted with flowering trees, probably fast-growing pears, and a few shrubs. Dwarf shrubs and an espaliered yew against the side of the house provided a new, open feel to the site. Before and after images are included. Hoopstick Farm is notable as the original venue for the Essex Horse Trials, a pre-Olympic qualifying event.

Garden designer: Poinier, Lois W.

Notes: This small garden was created in an area adjacent to the kitchen of the house. It featured several small beds of herbs and perennials separated from the surrounding lawn by a rose border and a wooden fence fronted with plantings. Gravel provided the base for foot traffic and a seating area.

Notes: The folders include worksheets and other information.

This was the home of the late William Y. and Thelma Tipson Dear. In 1965 landscape architect Lois W. Poinier undertook an extensive design and installation project for the property, which is well-documented with both "before" and "after" images in the series. Poinier's plan featured an extensive herb and vegetable garden, complete with garden house, at the rear of the house, while the front of the property was highlighted by a tri-part brick walk with millstone insert. Molly Adams also photographed the property a number of years after the landscaping installation. Her images depict many aspects of the garden, including brick walkways, trellises, standards, and the overall form of the design. More contemporary images of the property (2022) found on the Internet show the garden to be dominated by shrubs and a few ornamental trees rather than the herbs and other garden plantings of former times.

NJ376: Morristown -- Watts Garden

Notes: Poinier, Lois W.

Helen Page Wodell was the original garden designer for this property, once the home of Ridley Watts and Gertrude van Epps Hoy Watts. Their son, Ridley Watts, Jr., was married to Mary Cottrell Watts. The latter was the sister-in-law of Wodell's sister and design colleague Lois Page Cottrell. Wodell's design eliminated a circular gravel driveway at the back of the house, replacing it with a stone walk/patio, a lawn, two Colorado blue spruce trees, and a cottage style border by the garage. By the early 1980s, as seen in several of the images, the site, both front and back, had become severely overgrown. For the then-current owners Lois W. Poinier created a new design for the back of the property featuring (after the removal of the spruce trees) an extensive cottage style garden, an expanded flagstone patio and walkways, and one of her signature wall fountains. Unruly vegetation at the front of the house was replaced by an orderly, enclosed space with a few shrubs and two flowering trees.

Persons associated with the property include Helen Page Wodell (garden designer, ca. 1920-1930), Lois W. Poinier (garden designer, ca. 1984-1987), and Ridley Watts and Gertrude van Epps Hoy Watts (former owners).

Notes: The images in this file show construction of a gravel driveway and parking area as well as the finished product. In her design, Lois W. Poinier saved an existing Oxydendrum arboreum (sourwood or sorrel tree) at the corner of the house. Overgrown shrubs (possibly boxwood) were removed and replaced with white azaleas and other colorful plantings.

Persons associated with the garden include Lois W. Poinier (garden designer) and William Kemp Bigelow and Dorothy Addis Bigelow (former owners).

Notes: Construction of a new house provided Lois Poinier with the opportunity to design all of the landscaping surrounding the property. At the back of the house a flagstone patio outlined by a stone wall lay adjacent to a grassy area outlined by a wooden fence atop railroad ties to hold the grade. On another side of the patio pea gravel created an open space and walkway. Dogwoods were among the many varieties of plants used in this area. At the front of the house The front of the house was more formally planted. Images show construction of the house, initial landscaping installation, and mature landscaping in multiple seasons and years.

Persons associated with the garden include Lois W. Poinier (garden designer) and J. Murray Johnston and Nancy Wylie Johnston (former owners).

Garden designer: Poinier, Lois W.

Notes: This was a large, multi-faceted project for a multi-level property. At the rear of the house story-high circular walls defined two patio areas on an upper level, while also semi-enclosing a third space at ground level. This lower patio opened onto a lawn leading to a pond created as part of the project. Low stone walls provided additional definition for this lower space. Plantings included a fast-growing Callery pear to provide shade for this sunny side of the house. At the front of the house and along the driveway a variety of flowering trees and shrubs provided an orderly arrangement further articulated by vertical stones separating these planting areas from the roadway.

Persons associated with the garden include Lois W. Poinier (garden designer) and Bryson Woods (former owner).

Garden designer: Poinier, Lois W.

Notes: A focal point for this garden was a small purple barn. Shrubs and ground cover plants were installed to soften yet highlight its dominance, such as a yellow witch hazel that bloomed very early in spring. A small brick patio provided seating under a mature shade tree, while another brick walkway led past the barn to a compost area. Brick edging served to design borders. There was even space for a small pool by the barn. Before and after images are included.

Persons associated with the garden include Lois W. Poinier (garden designer) and William Porter Elliott and Marjorie Blackman Elliott (former owners). Marjorie Blackman Elliott was an active member of the Plainfield Garden Club for many years.

Garden designer: Poinier, Lois W.

Notes: This garden featured a Mid-Century Modern house built about 1968, which may have been the home of Jane Webster Pearce and which may have been designed by her son, architect John Pearce, Jr. The site lent itself to an informal plan, with an irregularly shaped patio at the back of the house leading to paths winding through the adjacent trees, naturalized daffodil plantings, and even a small water feature. The street side of the house was quite different in character due to the unbroken brick wall of the house and garage, apparently intended to provide privacy. Nevertheless, its geometric effect was softened by the use of espaliers, ground cover plants, and several trees. Images document construction as well as the mature garden over a number of years.

Notes: For a new house built on Hartshorn Drive in the late 1950s Lois W. Poinier created a design that utilized the natural woodland surroundings of the site. Although there were some formal elements, such as a flagstone patio with a small pond, most of the design maintained a natural, informal feel. Spring bulbs were naturalized in the woods, while the driveway was lined with a variety of shrubs. Native plants also played a major role in the design, including Vaccinium. Garden Poinier, Lois W.

designer:

Former owner: Bumsted, Roy R., Jr.
Bumsted, Anne Halbach

Notes: The folder includes worksheets and additional information.

This garden on Wells Lane in Short Hills, dating to 1960-61, was one of two gardens designed by Lois W. Poinier for the Roy R. Bumsted family. The second was NJ324 (No. 2). It is possible that Garden No. 1 was designed for Roy R. Bumsted, Sr. It has been clearly documented that No. 2 was designed for Anne Halbach Bumsted and Roy R. Bumsted, Jr., although they may have also been the owners of Garden No. 1. Mrs. Bumsted, Jr. was the daughter of Ernest K. Halbach, who in 1948 had married Poinier's mother, Helen Page Wodell. For NJ392 a tree-shaded, natural surface outdoor seating area was constructed at the back of the house and a variety of plantings--azaleas, evergreens, rhododendrons, and perennials--were installed. The house may have been sold shortly after the landscaping work was completed because Lois Poinier designed NJ324 for the Bumsteds, on Stewart Road, around 1963-64. Or, it may have remained the property of Roy R. Bumsted, Sr.

Persons associated with the garden include: Lois Poinier (garden designer, 1960-61), Anne Halbach Bumsted and Roy Remmey Bumsted, Jr. (former owners?, ca. 1960-61) and Roy Remmey Bumsted, Sr. (former owner?).

Notes: This project on Stewart Road in Short Hills, circa 1963-65, was one of two designed by Lois W. Poinier for the Roy R. Bumsted family, in this case Anne Halbach Bumsted and Roy R. Garden designer: Poinier, Lois W.

Former owner: Alexander, Joan Kennedy
Bush, Alfred

Notes: The folder includes work sheets and other information.

This garden on Western Drive in Short Hills was designed by Lois Poinier about 1960 (additional design work has been undertaken since 1995 by Joan Kennedy Alexander). Features included a terrace for outdoor living with a fountain and extensive plantings of azaleas, rhododendrons, and similar shrubs, surrounded by trees. Because of a steep slope on one side and a sloping grade on another low steps led from one grassy area to another before arriving at the terrace itself.

Persons associated with the garden include: Lois W. Poinier (garden designer, ca. 1960); Joan Kennedy Alexander (garden designer, ca. 1995); and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bush (former owners, 1948-1995).

Former owner: Campbell, Worthington

Notes: The folder includes work sheets and other information.

This garden was designed by Helen Page Wodell after 1945 and was well-established by the 1950s. The slides document the appearance of the site before and after landscaping. A driveway was replaced by a stone wall topped with a picket fence to define a terrace. The terrace featured a central lawn area, with bulb and perennial borders on the sides. Specimen and flowering trees, as well as additional lawn areas, filled the rest of the garden.

Persons associated with the garden include: Helen Page Wodell (garden designer, ca. 1945-1955) and Mr. and Mrs. Worthington Campbell (former owner).

Garden designer: Poinier, Lois W.

Notes: This project began with the removal of a hedge separating a swimming pool from the house, the latter being on a slightly higher level. The hedge was replaced with a lawn leading up to a multi-level terrace. Brick walls and garden borders separated the lawn from the two terraces, while a flagstone path connected the terrace area to the pool. Before and after images are included.

Persons associated with the garden include: Lois W. Poinier (garden designer) and William Cochrane (former owner).

Garden designer: Poinier, Lois W.

Landscape architect: Saltiel, Jan

Notes: The folder includes worksheets.

The garden, designed by Lois W. Poinier in the 1960s, was shaped and divided into planting beds by railroad ties and gravel paths. There was a small boxwood garden in the center and a variety of perennials in the surrounding beds. The house, built in 1939-1940, had a small, brick-walled terrace at the back with steps leading down to the garden. The yard was ringed by forsythia and also included a rose garden and a mature boxwood garden. When the property was purchased in 2005, the perennials, boxwoods, and roses were gone and the forsythia had become overgrown.

The entire property was redesigned in 2007 by Jan Saltiel of Edgewater Designs in Millburn, New Jersey. A large wrap-around terrace at the back of the house is ringed in boxwood. The driveway and fence were both moved, and the remnants of the fence were made into part of the terrace and landscaped path.

Persons associated with the garden include: Mr. and Mrs. Edgar J. McKay (former owners, 1939- ), Mrs. Joseph E. Cox (former owner, -1999), Joseph E. Cox, III and Oden Cox Catullo (former owners, 1999-2005), Lois W. Poinier (garden designer, 1960s), and Jan Saltiel (landscape architect, 2007).

Notes: The folder includes worksheets and additional information.

This was the garden of Helen Page Wodell and Ernest K. Halbach, whom she married in 1948, at the home to which they moved shortly thereafter. Wodell was the mother of garden designer Lois W. Poinier and grandmother of garden designer Page Sanders. Wodell's design, which accompanied a renovation of the house, featured a rear terrace outlined by stone walls, atop and alongside of which extensive borders were planted. Colorful borders extended beside the house and to the back of the property, accented by specimen trees and flowering trees and shrubs. The garage and driveway area was reconfigured and landscaped to accommodate an addition to the house and to tie this area to the rear terrace and back of the property. The front of the house received a new walk, stone walls, and plantings, bringing unity to the design for the entire site.

Persons associated with the garden include: Ernest K. Halbach (former owner); and Helen Page Wodell [Halbach] (former owner and garden designer).

NJ345: Short Hills -- Hall Garden

Garden designer:	Poinier, Lois W.
Notes:	Two distinct projects are documented at this site. The first involved creation of a two-section patio and garden area at the back of the house, replacing a small utility yard and expanding the space. One part of the patio was laid out in small beds and incorporated significant stonework and pea gravel walkways. The second area, paved in flagstone, provided an outdoor living space. The slope bordering both sections was extensively planted. The second project was at the front of the house, where a curved walkway to the street was replaced by one providing straight line access to the front door. There was also some re-landscaping along the front of the house. Images include before and after views of both projects.

NJ348: Short Hills -- Hostetter Garden

Garden designer:	Poinier, Lois W.
Notes:	This project involved creation of a flagstone patio, starting with removal of overgrown yews and hedges. The patio incorporated a fountain and small pool, azalea borders, and views across a lawn to the surrounding trees. A large tree adjacent to the fountain and pool was removed several years after completion of the project, casting the entire patio into direct sun. Images cover the period 1966-1977 and show the evolution of the site.

NJ382: Short Hills -- H. H. Hoyt Garden

Garden designer:	Poinier, Lois W.
Former owner:	Hoyt, Henry Hamilton Hoyt, Anna Orcutt
Notes:	The folder includes work sheets and other information. This garden was designed by Lois W. Poinier over a period of years from the early 1960s to the 1980s and was located on Lake Road in Short Hills. Images document the site before, during, and after landscaping. During the 1960s terracing and extensive borders with brick edging were installed to extend away from the back of the house down toward a sunken garden. There, a fountain and paved seating area were constructed and borders replanted. In the early 1980s the upper garden was extended and a new terrace constructed. Especially lovely in spring, the garden was designed for all-season beauty. Lois W. Poinier also designed a garden for the Hoyts at their home in Osterville, Massachusetts.

Persons associated with the garden include: Lois W. Poinier (garden designer, ca. 1960-1980s) and Anna Orcutt Hoyt and Henry Hamilton Hoyt (former owners). Lois W. Poinier also designed a garden for the Hoyts at their Osterville, Massachusetts, home (see MA327).

Garden Poinier, Lois W.

designer:

Former owner: Hoyt, Charles Orcutt, Mr. and Mrs.

Notes: The folder includes work sheets and other information.

This garden was designed by Lois W, Poinier and was located on Highland Avenue in Short Hills. Images document the site before, during, and after landscaping. Stairs and a walk were constructed and landscaping installed in the front of the property. In the back, retaining walls, curving stairs, and plantings were designed to enhance a steep hillside, while a stone patio provided outdoor living space near the house. The hillside was planted with spring bulbs. Along one side of the property a former children's play area was transformed into comparatively formal borders and a central bed surrounding a fountain.

Persons associated with the garden include: Lois W. Poinier (garden designer, 1960-1980s) and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Orcutt Hoyt (former owners, ca. 1958-1962). Mr. Hoyt was the son of Henry Hamilton Hoyt and Anna Orcutt Hoyt (see gardens MA327 and NJ382).

Garden designer: Poinier, Lois W.

Notes: For this project dating to about 1960 Lois Poinier began by reshaping a hillside and constructing two stone retaining walls. The lower of these walls defined a flagstone patio and also provided the structure for a wall fountain and pool. Between the walls abundant azaleas and other plantings provided a burst of springtime color. Stone stairs provided access to the upper portion of the garden with its lawn leading to surrounding woodlands. Images include before and after shots as well as some taken several years after completion of the project.

 This garden was designed by Lois W. Poinier in 1972 and was located on Joanna Way near North Pond in Short Hills. Images document the site before, during, and after landscaping, including slides taken five years after installation. A highlight of the project was construction of a terrace to take advantage of water views from the property. The terrace was complemented by a rose border and flowering trees and shrubs, and provided a comfortable setting for outdoor living. The front of the house was also landscaped with azaleas, swarf boxwood, ilex, and other shrubs to replace existing overgrown plantings. The Marquardts, former owners who commissioned the design, left the property in the 1980s.

Persons associated with the garden include: Lois W. Poinier (landscape architect, 1972) and the Marquardt family (former owners).

This garden was designed by Lois W. Poinier in the early 1960s around the terrace of the 1941 house. The terrace was surrounded by a low brick wall. The inside of the wall was planted with roses and the outside of the wall with tulips in the spring and then annuals once the tulips faded. Stairs leading from the terrace to the flower beds framed with railroad ties were planted with peonies and a mixture of annuals and perennials.

Persons associated with the garden include: The Hulshizer Family (former owner, 1941-1955), James H. McGraw III (former owner, 1955-1977), Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Palmer (former owners, 1977-1986), Margaret Cannella and Conor D. Reilly (former owners, 1986-2013), and Lois W. Poinier (garden designer, 1960s).

designer:

Notes: The folder includes a work sheet.

This project involved extensive work at the rear and side of the house. At the back a porch was demolished and replaced with a terrace. A garden pool accented by azaleas was placed in what had been a wide lawn while leaving sufficient open space for children to play. Additional azaleas, spring bulbs, and other plantings were added to the edge of the lawn area. A formal rose and herb garden with gravel paths, surrounded by a picket fence, was designed for one side of the house near the terrace. Images include before and after shots, the latter highlighting the property in spring when the flowering shrubs and trees were in full bloom.

Persons associated with the garden include: Celeste and John Stevens Penney, Jr. (former owners, 1961-ca. 1989) and Lois W. Poinier (garden designer, ca. 1962).

This garden's design was a joint project of Helen Page Wodell and Lois W. Poinier. The owners of this site on Minnisink Road wanted a garden that would be at its peak in spring and they weren't disappointed. In addition to beds of tulips, bleeding heart, and other flowers, dogwoods and various shrubs provided a bridge to surrounding trees. Large, natural rocks defined a pond adjacent to a small lawn.

Persons associated with the garden include: Helen Page Wodell (garden designer); Lois W. Poinier (garden designer); and Edward Bancroft Twombly and Mildred Hadra Twombly (former owners).

 This garden on Park Place in Short Hills was designed by Lois Poinier when the house was constructed in 1963. The slides document construction and landscaping and include images taken several years after completion of installation. Features included extensive foundation planting, a terrace and plantings at the back of the house, and terraced borders anchored by railroad ties. The front of the house featured a Callery pear as well as dwarf boxwood.

Garden Poinier, Lois W.

Notes: Lois W. Poinier designed landscaping during the late 1950s for both the front and back of this property on Lakeview Avenue. At the front she installed a border separating the lawn from the street that featured a variety of small trees and shrubs. At the back of the house a terrace was built with steps leading down to a lawn area. The lawn was encircled by an informal border featuring azaleas, other shrubs, and spring flowering bulbs such as tulips. Before and after images are included.

Garden designer: Poinier, Lois W.

Notes: For this project on Franklin Place Lois W. Poinier created garden spaces for both the front and side of the house. A porch renovation project in front seems to have prompted and influenced the design for that area. Four formal, edged beds were separated by brick walkways with an urn in the center. The plantings, however, were informal and with the surrounding trees, softened the overall effect. The side of the house was given a cottage style garden with an arbor and white picket fence. Pea gravel provided a base for outdoor living. Before and after images are included. By 2021 both gardens had been replaced by a lawn, English ivy, and a few shrubs.

NJ331: Summit -- Clutsam Garden, 1952-1968

Garden designer: Poinier, Lois W.

Notes:

Lois W. Poinier designed landscaping for this site over a period of years beginning in 1952. The early 1950s saw construction of a small brick patio adjacent to a screened porch, augmented by shrubs and potted plants. Enclosure of this porch around 1960 led to additional landscaping and construction of a larger, ground-level patio. Images also document the mature garden in the late 1960s. Although Poinier identified the property as being on Colt Road in Summit, town directories from the 1960s indicate that the owners were living on Warwick Road at that time.

Garden designer: Poinier, Lois W.

Notes: Work on this project on Hillcrest Avenue began with removal of a spindly rose garden in preparation for installation of a flagstone terrace. Because the house sat high off the ground stairs were then constructed down to the terrace level. Due to the sloping character of the site, the terrace itself was defined at one end by a 16 inch wall topped with stone coping. New landscaping around the house and terrace replaced the unfortunate rose bushes.

NJ338: Summit -- Diefendorf Garden

Garden designer: Poinier, Lois W.

Notes: For this project on Fernwood Road Lois W. Poinier took a rather ordinary, flat backyard bisected by a hedge and created a two-level garden featuring several varieties of trees and flowering shrubs as well as a lawn. An existing birch tree was retained in the design, which also included a flagstone patio with a small pool outlined by stones and a raised stone edge and stairs to the upper level. Mature rhododendrons and trees at the back of the property provided privacy as well as definition of the upper level of this two-tiered garden.

NJ359: Summit -- Molnar Garden

Garden designer: Poinier, Lois W.

Notes: A steep bank led Lois W. Poinier to design a stone retaining wall that defined two garden borders--a narrow bed at the top and a three foot wide one below. Each level of the garden featured a lawn area, while the lower level also had a small flagstone patio with outdoor seating. Mature trees provided a backdrop, while one of Poinier's signature small pools was incorporated into the wall.

Persons associated with the garden include: Lois W. Poinier (garden designer) and Julius Paul Molnar and Margaret Andrews Molnar (former owners). The Molnars' ownership is inferred from a reference to Murray Hill in the garden's file, Murray Hill being the site of Bell Labs, where Julius Paul Molnar was an Executive Vice President.

Notes: Lois W. Poinier began the design work for this garden on Whittredge Road in 1966. Foundation plantings and garden borders were installed and an existing hedge also served to enclose the space. The borders were highlighted by flowering bulbs and perennials in spring. Images include "before" shots as well as some taken of the mature garden in 1975. Virtually nothing remains of this garden due to construction of additions to the house.

Garden designer: Poinier, Lois W.

Notes: For this hillside location on Oakridge Avenue, Lois W. Poinier designed a multi-level terrace. One level provided a patio for outdoor living and incorporated one of Poinier's signature fountains, in this case a wall fountain featuring two squirrels as a decorative element. The second, lower, level was a lawn edged by garden borders. Existing stone walls were retained if possible, although a tree was removed to make way for steps leading to the upper terrace flanked by a stuccoed wall to match the house. Azaleas, dogwoods, and spring flowering bulbs provided colorful accents in spring. Before and after images are included.

Notes: This wooded site on Bellevue Avenue provided Lois W. Poinier with the opportunity to design a garden that took advantage of its natural surroundings. A brick patio with small lily pond was installed by the house. Rustic paths in the woods and naturalized spring bulbs amongst the native trees were the real focal points of the site. At the top of a slope through the woods a Japanese style teahouse provided a setting for rest and meditation. At the front of the house stairs were reworked and landscaping given an overhaul. Poinier's design dates from the early 1960s, although the images document the property into the 1970s.

Located in the now gated community of Llewellyn Park in West Orange, this New Jersey garden was originally landscaped sometime in the 1960s. At that time, the garden featured a flagstone walkway running along the side of the house and a screened-in porch. A side entrance to the house was designed with a brick porch with two sets of stairs framed on either side by planting beds and wall fountain with a niche. Below the fountain were stone steps and a retaining wall leading to a lawn edged with flower beds.

Notes: The folder includes worksheets.

Located in the now gated community of Llewellyn Park, West Orange, this New Jersey property was originally the site of a caretaker's cottage and squash court when it was purchased in 1945. The property was extensively rebuilt several times. The garden was landscaped in 1967 and featured a walled garden with a year-round green planting bed in the center surrounded by a gravel walkway edged with flowers and shrubs. The front of the house was designed with a flagstone patio enclosed by a low brick wall and edged with planting beds. A gravel walkway leading from the patio was framed on either side by the front lawn. The images document construction of house and garden as well as the completed job.

Persons associated with the garden include: Paul and Lois Scheerer (former owners, 1945-1966), Wilson S. and Barbara Elmore (former owners, 1966-1991), and Lois W. Poinier (garden designer, 1967).

 Robbins, Charles, 1967-1999
 Poinier, Lois W.

Garden designer:
 Landscape architect firm: Morrison, Mark K., 2000

Provenance: Garden Club of the Oranges

Notes: The folder includes worksheets and historical information.

The residence originally was a horse stable built circa 1880 and the gardens now include an enclosed courtyard, designed in the 1960s during the conversion of the residence, and kitchen, vegetable and shade gardens, on about two acres, with another two acre lot kept as a mowed meadow for horseback riding and jumping. The original courtyard garden contained specimen trees including a Sir Harry Lauder walking stick and two white birches, no longer existing. Ornamental features include brick and ironwork gates with a sandstone carving of a horse's head, the original horses' water trough converted into a fountain, and brick walls. Trees planted by another previous owner that are still growing include star magnolias along a split rail fence and a giant sequoia and dawn redwood that have grown to impressive heights. The current owners are growing vegetables in raised beds, containers, and hay bales. Their kitchen garden has perennials, shrubs, a peach tree, berries and herbs; both areas are fenced to keep out deer. The shade garden between the house and meadow has been augmented with more ferns, mountain laurel, viburnum and a wisteria arch, and bluestone and brick walkways. In the courtyard garden the drainage has been redone and new trees and shrubs planted, including hawthorn, kousa dogwood, redbud, elms, maples, Norway spruce, and fruit trees.

The large estate mansion was built in the late nineteenth century by a member of the Guinness family, John Burke, who emigrated from Ireland to market Guinness stout in the United State. The mansion was demolished, and the property was divided among family members of the next owners, with the stables eventually given to a granddaughter as a wedding present. In addition to the house there are two studios for photography and ceramics, a garage and woodworking shop enclosing the courtyard. Llewellyn Park was one of the first planned suburbs in the United States, noted for naturalized plantings and specimen collections of trees.

Persons associated with the garden include John Burke (former owner, circa 1880s-1892); Mr. and Mrs. William Scheerer (former owners); John Babcock and Mary Scheerer Babcock (former owners, circa 1955-1968); Charles and Margaret S. Robbins (former owners, 1967-1999); Lois Poinier (garden designer, 1950s-1960s); Mark K. Morrison and Melissa IX (landscape architects, 2000); and Claudia Thornton (landscape architect, 2008).

The Garden Club of The Oranges facilitated the submission of this garden's documentation.

designer:

Provenance: Poinier, Lois W.

Notes: For the country house "Farmlands" overlooking Otsego Lake Helen Page Wodell created a sunken garden in what had formerly been a flat field. Low stone walls surrounded a lawn area with garden borders both inside and outside the walls. On the house side a single stone step led up to a stone terrace patio providing an area for outdoor living that took provided views of the lake and the sunken garden. Before and after images show the progression of the site from undeveloped field through construction and installation to a mature garden. Additional images are of the house and driveway, the latter showing three vintage vehicles.

Persona associated with the garden include: Helen Page Wodell (garden designer, circa 1940s) and Webster Tilton, Sr., and Alice Busch Tilton (former owners).

Notes: For this site adjacent to woodlands Lois W. Poinier designed a stone stairway leading down from a porch to a grassy area. At the foot of the stairs a stone wall featured a fountain and fish pond accented by a sculpture of a cherub. A flagstone patio by the lawn was separated from it by a low stone wall. Surrounding the lawn was a garden border featuring azaleas, a dogwood, and other shrubs, providing a boundary between the house and the trees beyond. The property was probably located on Sherman Avenue.

Persons associated with the garden include: Lois W. Poinier (garden designer) and Harriet Herter (probable former owner). Although Poinier's records refer to a "Dr." Herter and wife as the project clients, his name has not been determined.

Notes:

Before and after images document this multi-faceted design and installation project dating between about 1956 and 1960. One part of Lois W. Poinier's work involved creation of three levels of grass terracing with a stone retaining wall and stairs. Providing a space for outdoor living, the terraces were accented by azaleas and included one of Poinier's signature fountains. A more significant reshaping of the site resulted in the construction of a swimming pool carved into the hillside. Additional retaining walls and dramatic stone stairs were constructed and the remaining hillside above the pool was planted with naturalized daffodils and shrubs. Utilizing a natural rock outcropping near the pool as a backdrop Poinier created yet another garden area of low plantings, lawn, and a sculpture of a childlike Diana with bow and arrow and squirrel. One image shows the front of the house in spring.

Provenance: Poinier, Lois W.

Notes:

For this country property east of Pittsburgh Helen Page Wodell designed informal beds of perennials. Adjacent to the house were a flowering dogwood, low boxwood hedges, and an espalier. A rail fence separated the garden area from adjacent fields and woods. Although the garden's location was given as "Rolling Rock" when the images were donated, this is the name of a private club in Laughlintown, PA. Since the property was likely in the vicinity of the club, Laughlintown has been used as its geographic location.

Notes: Lois W. Poinier's design for this small garden makeover included removal of overgrown shrubs, realignment of an existing brick walkway, and creation of a two-level lawn area defined by brick-edged beds. Although Poinier identified Sewickley as the garden's location, no connection to people named Berdan could be found in that community. Devon Road in Pittsburgh, however, is where John and Margaret Evans Berdan lived during the time period in which the the garden would have been designed and installed.

Notes: This garden, a joint project of Helen Page Wodell and her daughter Lois W. Poinier, was the latter's first foray into garden design. Dating to the 1940s, it consisted of three shallow grass terraces framed by borders of roses and perennials as well as surrounding trees. Images show the garden area prior to its design, during construction, and following completion. The property, "Ridgewood," appears to no longer exist and likely fell victim to sale and subdivision.

Persons associated with the garden include: Helen Page Wodell (garden designer, ca. 1940s), Lois W. Poinier (garden designer, ca. 1940s) and William Larimer Jones, Jr. (1891-1954) and Augusta Day Hall Jones (d. 1964) (former owners).

Lois W. Poinier designed this garden at the home she moved to in 1992 following the sale of Vixen's Lair (NJ162) and it remained in her possession until its sale in 2005. Since there was no prior garden on the site she developed all of the landscaping elements "from scratch." Features include a green garden with pool, a wild walk with Glenn Dale azaleas, a meadow incorporated into the back lawn, and a perennial garden.

Persons associated with the garden include Lois W. Poinier (landscape architect and former owner, 1992-2005).

 The Summit Garden Club
 Architect: Babb, Cook & Willard
 Garden designer: Wodell & Cottrell
 Notes: The Clearing, formerly known as.
 The folder includes worksheets, maps and other information.
 During the Revolutionary era, the area was part of a farm. An estate, once known as The Clearing, was created on the site in 1889 by John Hornor Wisner. He built the present Colonial revival residence, which now serves as the administrative and educational center for the Arboretum. Mr. Wisner plotted the original gardens and Mrs. Wisner planted the first daffodils. Each April the daffodil display, enlarged from earlier times, is a major Arboretum attraction. In 1916, the new owners, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reeves, hired a New York landscape architect to develop an overall design for the property. Mrs. Reeves was also a member of the Summit Garden Club. The Reeves family increased the daffodil plantings and, around 1925, started the rose garden. The Charles L. Reed family became the last private owners in the 1960s, adding the herb garden and creating the woodland trails.

The property became a public institution, the Reeves-Reed Arboretum, in 1974, when Summit citizens acted to protect the 12.5 acres of woodlands, glacial contours and dells, rolling lawns, and inspired gardens from encroaching development.

Persons associated with the garden include John and Isabelle Wisner (former owners, 1888-1918); Richard E. Reeves and Susie Graham Reeves (former owners, 1918-1968); Charles L. Reeves, Jr. and Ann Reeves Reed (former owners, 1968-1974); Calvert Vaux (landscape architect); Ellen Shipman (landscape architect); Carl F. Pilat (landscape architect, 1925); Babb, Cook & Willard (New York City, architect); Wodell & Cottrell (garden designers).

The Summit Garden Club donated lantern slides in 2015.

Truslow, Henry A., Mrs.

Architect: Ware, Arthur

Provenance: Poinier, Lois W.

Landscape architect: Brinley and Holbrook

Notes: The folder includes worksheets, maps and other information.

Located at 50 Bedford Road, and owned by Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Truslow, the house was designed by Arthur Ware, and gardens by Brinley and Halbrook of New York City. Mrs. Truslow was also a founding member of the Summit Garden Club in 1916. The large corner lot was recently subdivided and two houses built, resulting in the portico and side porch being removed from the original house. The lives of three generations of Truslow women, including Mrs. Truslow, were portrayed by her granddaughter, the late Jane Davison, in her book, "Fall of a Doll's House," recently revised as "To Make a House a Home." Additional photographs are in the Summit Garden Club Collection.

Persons associated with the garden include Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Truslow (former owners, circa 1910s-1920s); Arthur Ware (architect); Brinley and Halbrook (landscape architects).
