Administrative Information

Citation

Manuscript 209, National Anthropological Archives, Smithsonian Institution

Scope and Contents

With "Note" and "Key to pronunciation" by A.C. Anderson. The Hupa column contains entries on only two pages, a total of 17 words; these do not correspond with the Hupa in Bureau of American Ethnology Manuscript 85, by Crook.

Local Numbers

NAA MS 209

Local Note

The outline, including title, "Note," "Key," English words, and native names used as column headings, is all written in one hand, presumably Anderson's; words in the three Indian languages are in another hand, verified as Crook's "from material written by General Crook in War College Library," according to note by M.W. Tucker on old Manuscript envelope; note at top of title page, "By Lieut. now Gen. George Crook," is in hand of George Gibbs. Date supplied from information quoted by Pilling, Bureau of American Ethnology Bulletin 14, 1892, page 21, indicating that Lieutenant Crook's first assignment was with the Fourth Infantry in California, 1852-61.
