Administrative Information

Acquisition Information

This collection of material was in storage in the Department of Anthropology until donated to the National Anthropological Archives on May 22, 1973.

Related Materials

The National Museum of Natural History holds in its collection many of the items excavated during the Tulamni CWA Project. However, some materials were repatriated to the Tule River Indian Tribe and the Santa Rosa Rancheria of Tachi Yokuts Indians. Details of these materials can be seen in the report "Inventory and Assessment of Human Remains and Funerary Objects Potentially Affiliated with Yokuts Tribes from Kern and Tulare Counties, California, in the Collections of the National Museum of Natural History, Smithsonian Institution," available at <https://naturalhistory.si.edu/research/anthropology/programs/repatriation-office>

Administrative History

This collection is the result of the vast Civil Works Administration program under the supervision of the Smithsonian Institution. During the winter of 1933-1934, the Tulamni C.W.A. Project SLF-76 excavated a group of large shell mounds near Taft, California, in the upper San Joaquin valley. The site had previously been located and tentatively identified as the village site of Tulamni, "the place of the Tulamni, or Tule dwellers." The Tulamni were one of the lake tribes of Yokuts first visited in 1772 by Spaniards. Because the excavation would require the labor of a large force of men for a considerable period of time, it was a desirable location for the archaeological project allotted to the BAE in California, according to Winslow Walker's report.

More than 4000 artifacts and hundreds of Indian burials were excavated at the site of the Yokut Indian village near Taft, California, in 1933-34. Dr. William Duncan Strong, of the Bureau of American Ethnology (BAE), headed the Tulamni C.W.A. Project SLF-73 with Winslow Walker, also of the BAE, as assistant director. The excavations were one of a number of archaeological projects organized and financed by the Civil Works Administration as a means of reducing unemployment. Artifacts and skeletal materials were shipped to the United States National Museum for study after completion of the field work.

Work began December 20, 1933 under the direction of Dr. William Duncan Strong, assisted by Winslow M. Walker. Two trained California archaeologists, W. R. Wedel, from the University of California, and E. F. Walker of the Southwest Museum, assisted. The staff was augmented by technicians and graduate students: Engineer-Surveyor Lew Suverkrop; Supervising Foremen P. L. Stanley and H. I. McGrath; Photographer F. M. Boyd; Accountant-Timekeeper N. E. Taussig; Technicians Phillip Drucker, G. H. Denkel, H. E. Driver, Hans Fischel, H. G. Barnett, Paul McGrew, Milton O'Rourke, and M. P. Smith. Employment as laborers was given to about 175 unemployed men from the Taft region of Kern County. Large scale operations made possible the examination of two shell mounds on the slope of the hills at the western side of Buena Vista Lake and the uncovering of two large burial places on the hilltops just behind the mounds.

By combining the methods of trenching, screening and clearing large areas horizontally, a good idea of the internal structure and contents of the mounds was obtained. They had been used not only as places on which to build huts, but also as middens and burial spots. The mounds, more than 1000 feet long, 150 wide, and about 10 feet thick, were the result of accumulations of large amounts of shell, sand loam, ash and camp debris over long periods of occupation, perhaps conditioned by the rise and fall of the lake waters.

The burial hilltops yielded a large number of mortuary objects, including finely chipped flint points, knives, bone awls, shell beads and pendants. The bodies in these cemeteries had been buried in the flexed position, wrapped in soft woven fiber, and in some instances also encased in tule mats.

The picture in general is that of a primitive hunting and fishing people who had presumably followed up the course of the San Joaquin from the San Francisco Bay region and settled many hundreds of years ago around Buena Vista Lake.

Scope and Contents

Included in this collection are the field notes of Winslow Walker, E. F. Walker and other technicians; records; specimen catalogues; correspondence; a scrapbook of newspaper clippings; reference articles; maps; and charts and tables generated by the expedition. Cartographic materials comprise more than half of this collection. Dates of materials range from a 1905 U.S. Geological Survey Map to correspondence dated 1937.

There are no official reports of the project in this collection. These may be found in the Explorations and Field-Work of the Smithsonian Institution in 1934 (1935) where there is an article by Winslow Walker, "Excavating Ancient Yokuts Shellmounds in California" and BAE Bulletin 130 (1941), which contains "Archaeological Investigations at Buena Vista Lake, Kern County, California," by T. Dale Stewart.

The collection is incomplete since there is material mentioned in the Wedel report, notable text and several tables, which is not on deposit. Also missing are administrative records.

The William Duncan Strong papers, also located in the National Anthropological Archives, do not contain material concerning this expedition.

Container Listing

Series 1: Winslow M. Walker's Field Notes, 1933-1934

0.04 Linear feet

Scope and Contents: Walker's field book contains the daily plans and progress of the Tulamniu C.W.A. Project; lists federal and local C.W.A. officials; gives organization hierarchy for project; and lists technicians, salaries, and personnel changes. The field book also gives accounts of exploratory trips to other California locales. This series also contains a folder of Walker's notes, lists and memos—undated and unarranged.

Box 1                      Field Book—December 14, 1933—March 12, 1934, 1933-1934

Box 1                      Notes, lists, memos—undated and unarranged, undated

Return to Table of Contents

Series 2: Notebooks of Field Notes, Burial and House Records, 1933-1934

0.46 Linear feet

Scope and Contents: This series contains 13 notebooks with assorted information such as burial and house records, diagrams, fireplaces, camp levels, etc. A highlight is E. F. Walker's T2 notebook containing a summary of the project, conclusions, reconstruction of life of prehistoric people, and a report of an interview with Thomas Jefferson Mayfield, who as a boy lived with the Yokuts for ten years from 1850.

Arrangement: Materials in this series are as originally arranged.

Box 1	T1 Burials, profiles, house records, 1934, undated
Box 1	T2 Specimen Catalogue, Burials, E. F. Walker, 1933-1934
Box 1	T2 Field notes, house floors, camp levels, E. F. Walker, circa 1933-1934
Box 1	T2 Profiles and fireplaces, E. F. Walker, 1934, undated
Box 1	T3 Hill Top Cemetery #1 (T-3), 1933-1934, undated
Box 2	T4 and T5 field report, Maurice Smith and E. F. Walker, 1934, undated
	T1 and T3 stenographer's notebooks of burials
Box 2	DWayne, 1934
Box 2	Driver T-1, circa 1933-1934
Box 2	T3 Burials, Barnett, 1933
Box 2	T3 Burials #125 on, Lloyd [?], 1934
Box 2	T3 Burials 141-186 & on, Stricklin, 1934
Box 2	T3 Burials 188 on, Dudley, 1934
Box 2	T3 Burials 250 & up, Wallace, 1934

Return to Table of Contents

Series 3: Catalogs of Specimens, circa 1933-1934

1.54 Linear feet

Scope and Contents: Contains original catalog of specimens (approx. 200 pages) listing items from all excavation sites—T1, T2, T3, T4, Cuyama Ranch Cemetery #1, Matthews site, Caliente site, Apache Creek site, Buena Vista Shore Line, Pelican Island, Death Valley, Tufa Cave, Lokern Mound and Mohave Desert. Series also includes duplicate information on 3"x5" index cards. Cataloging was apparently done by Milton O'Rourke and assistants. All artifacts and skeletal material were shipped to the U.S. National Museum for study after the completion of field work.

Box 2	T1 (101 pages), circa 1933-1934
Box 2	T2 (67 pages), circa 1933-1934
Box 2	T3 (11 pages), circa 1933-1934
Box 2	T4 (7 pages), circa 1933-1934
Box 2	All Other Sites (14 pages), undated Notes: Includes Cuyama, Ranch Cemetery, Matthews, Caliente, Apache Creek, Buena Vista Shore Line, Pelican Island, Death Valley, Tufa Cave, and Lokern sites.
Box 5-7	Index cards of specimens in card boxes, undated

Return to Table of Contents

Series 4: Notes About Artifacts, circa 1933-1934

0.25 Linear feet

Scope and Contents: This series is composed of seven folders of Tulamni notes on artifacts categorized by type of artifact and listed by tray number and in some cases by site number. Bone, shell, chipped flints, textiles, asphaltum, clay and steatite artifacts are mentioned and divided into trays 1-59.

Box 2	Bone—Trays 1-6, circa 1933-1934
Box 2	Shell—Trays 7-10, circa 1933-1934
Box 2	Shell—Trays 11-13, circa 1933-1934
Box 2	Chipped Flints—Trays 14-23, circa 1933-1934
Box 2	Textiles—Trays 23-32, circa 1933-1934
Box 2	Asphaltum, Clay—Trays 33-36, circa 1933-1934
Box 3	Steatite—Trays 37-43, circa 1933-1934
Box 3	Misc.—Trays 44-59, circa 1933-1934

Return to Table of Contents

Series 5: Scrapbook of Newspaper Clippings, 1933-1934

0.04 Linear feet

Scope and Contents: The only item in this series is a scrapbook of newspaper accounts of the Tulamni project, Buena Vista Lake, Kern County, California, 1933-34. Includes press releases, apparently submitted by Winslow Walker, and background stories by area historians. Area newspapers represented are the Daily Midway Driller (Taft, CA), Porterville Recorder (CA), Taft Dispatch, Fresno Bee, Los Angeles Examiner and the Los Angeles Herald.

Box 3 Scrapbook, 1933-1934

Series 6: Correspondence, 1933-1937

0.04 Linear feet

Scope and Contents: A very small amount of correspondence relating to the Tulamni project. Incoming letters include mail from Carl V. Bloom, Division of Oil & Gas, State of California; John D. Henderson, Kern County Library; Horace G. Byers, Bureau of Chemistry & Soils, U.S. Department of Agriculture; A. Wetmore, U.S. National Museum; and J. D. James. Outgoing correspondence includes letters to W. D. Clarke, Director C.W.A. for Kern County; A. Wetmore and Horace Byers.

Arrangement: Arranged chronologically.

Box 3                      Correspondence, 1933-1937, undated

Return to Table of Contents

Series 7: Reference Material, 1910-1953

0.08 Linear feet

Scope and Contents: This series brings together all background information found in the collection. It contains published magazine articles from Touring Tropics and Oil Bulletin; several typewritten reports by H. I. Priestly, A. L. Kroeber, Robert Heizer, Franklin Fenega and F. F. Latta as well as handwritten notes about historical connections, etc. John D. Henderson from the Kern County Library supplied some of the articles.

Series 10: Maps, 1905-1934

1.38 Linear feet

Scope and Contents: Includes various cartographic material such as U.S. Geological Survey maps of California, preliminary sketches, and contour blue prints done by engineer-surveyor Lew Suverkrop.

Arrangement: The maps are intellectually divided into three subseries, but are physically intermixed.

10.1: Surrounding Area or more than one site

Map-folder 1	Kern County, 1930
Map-folder 1	Kern County, Lokern Quadrangle, U.S.G.S., 1927
Map-folder 1	Kern County, Mouth of Kern Quadrangle, U.S.G.S., 1927
Map-folder 1	Santa Inez Quadrangle, annotated key for reconnaissance work west of Buena Vista, U.S.G.S., 1905
Map-folder 1	Buena Vista Lake, Kern Lake, Bakersfield, undated
Map-folder 2	T1, T2, T3, T4 contour map, undated
Map-folder 2	Original map and tracings, undated
Map-folder 2	Honolulu Oil Co. Water Pumping Sta. area, undated
Map-folder 2	Tulamniu Excavations contour key map, undated

10.2: Tulamniu Mound 1

Map-folder 2	Elevations, undated
Map-folder 3	Preliminary Sketch, scale 1" = 100', Lew Suverkrop, 1933 December 24
Map-folder 3	Contour Map, scale 1" = 40', Lew Suverkrop and I. L. Geissel, 1933
Map-folder 3	Contour Map, scale 1" = 40', Lew Suverkrop and I. L. Geissel, 1933
Map-folder 3	Preliminary Work Map, scale 1" = 50', Lew Suverkrop, 1934
Map-folder 3	Contour Map Lab. Copy, scale 1" = 50', Lew Suverkrop, 1934
Map-folder 7	Key Map showing location of house sites, scale 1" = 10', W.R. Wedel, 1934 February 26
Map-folder 7	Key Map showing locations of burials, scale 1" = 30', undated

10.3: Tulamni Mound 2

Map-folder 3	Contour Map, portion of T2, undated
Map-folder 3	Contour Map, I. Geissel, H. L. Hill and Lew Suverkrop, 1934
Map-folder 3	Portion of T2 blue print, scale 1" = 40', Lew Suverkrop and I. L. Geissel, 1934
Map-folder 3	Portion of T2 blue print, scale 1" = 40', undated

Series 11: Charts and Tables, circa 1933-1934

1.38 Linear feet

Scope and Contents: Material includes charts and tables of artifacts, awls, bones, shell, stone, burial locations, campsite depths, animal specimens, etc. Almost all are hand drawn and undated. Compilers are unidentified unless otherwise indicated.

Arrangement: Materials in this series are intellectually divided into four subseries, but are physically intermixed.

11.1: Items pertaining to more than one area

Map-folder 4	Artifacts, circa 1933-1934
Map-folder 5	Artifacts, size and provenience illustrated, circa 1933-1934
Map-folder 4	Artifacts, outline for study of Signal Butte, circa 1933-1934
Map-folder 4	Artifacts, lists for all sites, circa 1933-1934
Map-folder 5	Artifacts, vertical distribution by one foot levels, circa 1933-1934
Map-folder 4	Awls, classification of, circa 1933-1934
Map-folder 5	Bones, various records of, circa 1933-1934
Map-folder 5	Bones at site number, cremations, burials, circa 1933-1934
Map-folder 4	Bone, report from BAE, #130576, circa 1933-1934
Map-folder 4	Bone, report from BAE #130576 (supplement), circa 1933-1934
Map-folder 5	Buena Vista Lake, correlation of sites 1-4, circa 1933-1934
Map-folder 5	Buena Vista, summary of traits at sites 1 and 2, circa 1933-1934
Map-folder 5	Chipped points, distribution of, circa 1933-1934
Map-folder 4	Illustrations and tables—plates, circa 1933-1934
Map-folder 4	Projectile points and knives, classification and enumeration of, circa 1933-1934
Map-folder 4	Shell at site number, cremations, burials, circa 1933-1934
Map-folder 5	Stone at site number, cremations, burials, circa 1933-1934

11.2: Tulamni Mound 1

Map-folder 5	Specimen charts of animals, circa 1933-1934
Box 4	Specimens, stratigraphic area of, circa 1933-1934

---

11.3: Tulamni Mound 2

Box 4	Burial locations (9 diagrams), circa 1933-1934
Map-folder 5	Campsite depths from 9" to 36" by E. F. Walker, 1934 (9 charts), 1934
Map-folder 4	Campsite showing extent and depth of area of occupation, circa 1934
Map-folder 5	Horizontal Plans, scale 1" = 10', E. F. Walker, 1934 March
Map-folder 5	Trench #1 showing burials and large artifacts, scale 1" = 5', E. F. Walker, 1934 January
Map-folder 5	Trench #1 showing burials only, E. F. Walker, 1934
Map-folder 5	Trench #2, scale 1" = 10', E. F. Walker, 1934 January
Map-folder 5	Specimen chart of animals, circa 1933-1934

---

11.4: Tulamni Mounds 3 and 4

Map-folder 6	Burial locations for Hilltop Cemetery I (T3), circa 1933-1934
Map-folder 5	Burial numbers 1-348, frequency occurrences (T3), circa 1933-1934
Map-folder 5	Burial numbers 2-59, frequency occurrences (T4), circa 1933-1934
