Biographical / Historical

Peter Vogt, of Peter Vogt & Associates, has produced a diverse body of work--commercials, television documentaries, sponsored films and political spots. Vogt has done several films for the National Air and Space Museum, including the award-winning PBS documentary, "A Place Of Dreams," about the National Air and Space Museum and the dream of human flight it celebrates, and "25 Years In Space" a review of events in American history and the American space program from 1957 until 1982.

Scope and Contents

This collection consist of the following: one 16 mm print, four 16 mm color reversal internegatives (CRIs), two 16 mm optical sound tracks and four 16 mm original color negatives (OCN) rolls relating to "A Place of Dreams;" seven 16 mm original color negative (OCN) rolls and one Type-C video tape from "25 Years in Space;" one Type-C video tape, "IRAS: Infrared Astronomical Observatory;" two Type-C video tapes "NASM Computer Video - 3 Segments;" and one Type-C video tape "NASA / Paris."
