Administrative Information

Acquisition Information

Autographs is a portion of the Business Ephemera Series of the Warshaw Collection of Business Americana, Accession AC0060 purchased from Isadore Warshaw in 1967. Warshaw continued to accumulate similar material until his death, which was donated in 1971 by his widow, Augusta. For a period after acquisition, related materials from other sources (of mixed provenance) were added to the collection so there may be content produced or published after Warshaw's death in 1969. This practice has since ceased.

Scope and Contents

This subject category- Autographs consist of hand-written letters, documents, business papers and manuscripts. There are almost no "autographs" in the sense of signatures collected from famous persons. The signatures of Theodore Dreiser and Theodore Roosevelt appear on typewritten letters. Letters from such notables as William McAdoo (United States Secretary of the Treasury), Chauncey DePew (United States Senator) and Schuyler Colfax (United States Vice President) are present. These, and the great majority of letters and documents, concern business and/or political affairs. Apart from the historical interest of the subject matter found in the letters and manuscripts the researcher may learn much about the legal and epistolary styles of the late eighteenth through the early twentieth centuries. Almost all of the letters are entirely handwritten; the many styles of penmanship range from the elegant to the virtually unreadable. The manner of folding and addressing the earliest correspondence is very much in evidence in letters written before the general use of envelopes; many of these carry evidence of sealing-wax.

The arrangement scheme for the material has been created by the Archives Center.

Letters and Signatures, circa 1725-1920

Scope and Contents: Letters and Signatures circa 1725-1920, consists primarily of persons known only by the names they have signed. A smaller, but considerable number are written by persons prominent in civic and business affairs as noted above; some may be of historic interest. These have been identified by their title or office. A very few signatures saved as "autographs" in the popular sense are present. A number of letters are to New York Governor Grover Cleveland from constituents offering their views on various issues. H. T. Duncan's 1862 letter from Lexington, Kentucky is an interesting Civil War document. Several groups of letters are of particular interest for their depiction of personal, business or political affairs:

Subseries 1a, Robert Beverley Papers, circa 1795-1811, are miscellaneous checks written by him and are the only examples of his handwriting. He was probably a member of the prominent Beverley family of Virginia with connections to the family of George Washington. Most of this material was written to him by others and concerns his business affairs. His papers include material concerning the estate of Colonel William A. Washington.

Subseries 1b, Robert DePeyster Outgoing Correspondence, 1828-1829, are letters from Mr. DePeyster in New Orleans to Mr. Leverich in New York. These concern business matters, possibly the import and export of various commodities.

Subseries 1c, Thomas F. Foster Outgoing Correspondence, 1831-1837, are letters written by a Georgia congressman to his friend in Litchfield, Connecticut. Written from several towns in Georgia and from Washington, DC these provide an intimate view of social and political activities in the 1830s. Fine examples of the flowery language in use at the time, they are informative, witty, and convey a strong sense of the personality of the writer. Foster's papers include a sermon "Preached by Mr. Hickock" and an undated Independence Day address; these are not in Foster's hand. For additional information, contact the Archives Center at archivescenter@si.edu or 202-633-3270
