Administrative Information

Acquisition Information

Dry Goods is a portion of the Business Ephemera Series of the Warshaw Collection of Business Americana, Accession AC0060 purchased from Isadore Warshaw in 1967. Warshaw continued to accumulate similar material until his death, which was donated in 1971 by his widow, Augusta. For a period after acquisition, related materials from other sources (of mixed provenance) were added to the collection so there may be content produced or published after Warshaw's death in 1969. This practice has since ceased.

Processing Information

In 2016, with funding provided by the Smithsonian Institution's Collections Care and Preservation Fund, the Archives Center at the National Museum of American History implemented the use of minimal level processing standards to increase information about and facilitate access to more of our collections.

Arrangement and housing (box and folder) was previously completed by the Archives Center Staff in conjunction with the development of the original guide. Non-archival housing was replaced for long-term stability, but staples and other fasteners have not all been removed.

There is no Box 45. Boxes 46-57 are off-site and were not physically assessed in the 2017 processing effort but the contents list from the original inventory were encoded and included in the EAD finding aid.

For all other boxes and oversize material, folder contents were verified, the scope and content note was enhanced, folder-level description was completed. Some rehousing and a small amount of arrangement was done on select portions of the main content of this subject. A significant amount of additional material was processed and added to this subject as a result of the 2016/17 minimal level processing effort. A machine-readable, encoded finding aid was created by Nicole Blechynden, 2017 August.

Processing Information

In 2016, with funding provided by the Smithsonian Institution's Collections Care and Preservation Fund, the Archives Center at the National Museum of American History implemented the use of minimal level processing standards to increase information about and facilitate access to more of our collections. A large portion of stored material from the original acquisition received minimal level processing, which resulted in additions to this Subject category. This effort included basic arrangement and replacement of non-archival housing for long-term stability, but staples and other fasteners have not all been removed. Revisions to the encoded finding aid were made to reflect the added content in context to the previously processed material.

Minimal level processing and enhancement of the machine-readable finding aid completed by Nicole Blechynden, September 2017.

Restrictions

Collection is open for research but the Sears, Roebuck & Co. catalogs are stored off-site and are restricted due to fragile condition. Researchers should consult microfilm in NMAH library for 1880-1983 editions, drawer 692. Some additional items may be restricted due to fragile condition. Contact the Archives Center for information at archivescenter@si.edu or 202-633-3270.

Conditions Governing Use

Collection items available for reproduction, but the Archives Center makes no guarantees concerning copyright restrictions. Other intellectual property rights may apply. Archives Center cost-recovery and use fees may apply when requesting reproductions.

Scope and Contents

This material consists primarily of scattered correspondence on letterhead stationery, bills/receipts, printed advertisements, trade catalogs, handbills, pamphlets, advertising cards, photographs, cloth samples, leaflets, books, prospectus, order forms, chromolithographs, magazine advertisements, seals, postcards, business cards, children's books, greeting cards, almanacs, calendars, cardboard standups, fans, paper bag samples and import/export documents from businesses referred to loosely as department or variety stores. A number of these stores are still in business and tend to have a substantial amount of material. Such companies include I. Magnin, R. H. Macy, Woodward & Lothrop, F. H. Woolworth's, Sears, Roebuck & Company, Montgomery Wards, Wanamaker, etc. There are a few references to businesses who imported English, French, German, Indian, Chinese, Japanese, Egyptian, Sudanese, Persian and Moorish articles.

Generally the stores included among these materials sold a variety of products consisting of clothing and clothing accessories, home furnishings, home construction kits, novelties, stationery, groceries and a number of other products sold in contemporary department and variety stores. There are also companies that specialized in a particular product or type of product. Researchers interested in these businesses should also consult the same subject category if it is included on the listing of vertical document boxes. It is also possible that if the company produced oversize catalogs these would be listed with the Warshaw Collection oversize materials. For example, there are a number of Montgomery Wards, Butler Brothers, Bellas Hess and Company and Sears, Roebuck and Company catalogs found among the oversize materials.

There are a number of images that appear on these materials. Most of these images tend to be illustrations of the exterior or interior departments of the stores. Product illustrations also appear throughout the catalogues, printed advertisements and price lists. Ethnic images particularly in French advertisements also appear regularly. Dry goods stores relied heavily on advertisements directed toward children especially during the Christmas/holiday season. Books for children illustrating characters from favorite stories or Christmas scenes are common among the larger stores namely Woodward & Lothrop.

Materials in boxes one through thirty-nine are organized by name of company. Publications that discuss the history of a particular company are included with the company related materials. Catalogues, calendars, almanacs and price lists are generally listed under the company name in the finding aid with dates. This is due to the fact that these materials are often requested by researchers in this manner. This does not imply that these are the only materials for that particular company in the folders.

Box thirty-nine is also partially arranged by type including patents, stocks, general images, associations and miscellaneous items. A few related publications such as a chain store bibliography and a book on the history of chain stores are also included.

Boxes forty and forty-one contain periodicals created by W. A. Spelman in New York. Published as a trade journal devoted to the interests of the retail merchants, it was primarily meant to aid the subscriber in meeting the increasing competition in the dry goods trade. It was also meant to guide merchants in the purchase of goods. Referred to as The Fancy Goods Graphic or Spelman's Fancy Goods Graphic, these publications date from 1881-1890.

Import and export documents are found in boxes forty-one, through forty-three.

The processing of additional materials in 2017 integrated a significant volume of material, most notably the Jermain Business and Family papers and to a lesser extent, the Trimble Family Business records. Both offer insight to the operations of 19th Century family businesses. Also added was significant manuscript on the history of Montgomery Ward is also available.

Catalogues, especially thinner circular type editions have not been consolidated and may be found throughout the material in this collection. However there are several groupings listed in the Catalogue series, especially for regular issue bulky catalogues published by Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck and Company. See note regarding some items that have been microfilmed or transferred off-site.

Container Listing

Business Records and Marketing Material, 1768-1973

Contains a significant number of bookkeeping and accounting records in bound form. There is a large volume of transactional documents such as receipts and invoices, plus business correspondence and export/import records. Marketing materials include advertisements, promotional and novelty items, circulars, trade cards, and catalogues.

The Jermain Business and Family Papers provides extensive transactional records related to the operations of a family-based dry goods business and philanthropical endeavors, which extended to the greater Albany, New York area.

Although much smaller in volume than the Jermain records, the Trimble records illustrates another family business operation.

The Montgomery Ward history contains noriginal manuscript material regarding the establishment and operations of the company, plus staff research notes about company materials within the collection.

A sampling of catalogues are available including Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck and Company, and a number of other dry goods dealers, including the clothier and fashion industries. As noted, additional catalogue material is stored off-site and some items have been microfilmed.

General, including Accounting Books and Ledgers, 1768-1892

Predominately business records consisting of day-to-day transactional documents such as receipts and invoice with some correspondence and a small journal or two for products typically found though dry goods merchants although some groceries and other sundries may be represented.

Companies and Proprietors , Oversize Material

Materials relate to dry goods produced or sold in the United States, Europe and Asia and originate from the manufacturers and distributors of clothing, furniture, groceries, fabrics, domestics, notions, etc. Producers of equipment for retailers like clothes racks and display cases are also represented. The oversize items are comprised of printed advertisements, catalogs, order forms, coupons, posters, store signage, and general images. Most images are of products.

These materials listed as they are arranged in their respective containers. A-Z materials are present in both boxes.

Jermain Business and Family Papers; plus associated Albany Records, 1809-1929

James Barclay (J.B.) Jermain was known in the community for his philanthropy, which was made possible by his successful management the Albany, New York based dry goods business owned by his father (Sylvanus/Silvanus P. Jermain).

After his father's death in 1869, J.B. Jermain commissioned the building of a church and a home for aged men; some of the building and operations of this home is represented in the materials.

This material is comprised of correspondence, transactional receipts, contracts, cancelled checks, blank checks, and similar operations records. Additional material includes insurance policies, legal documents (including power of attorney), real estate documents. Two items of note: a court issued guardianship document (1818) for James Barclay and his brother upon their mother's death, an obituary for J.B. Jermain (1897 July 13).

The Albany, New York Records deviate from the focus of the dry goods business and men's home in that these materials include general information and records about the area and region. They have been retained with these family papers because some of the transactional records are definitively of the Jermain family, but they also include a significant number of lending and real estate records, including deeds, by other persons of Albany and the surrounds, with several documents related to William James.

Business Records, 1810-1929

Contains invoices and receipts for goods and services, plus payroll distribution sheets and some accounting worksheets.
