Biographical / Historical

The lantern slides and glass photographs include miscellaneous family photographs and portraits, photographs of buildings, and historical art subjects.

Scope and Contents

Miscellaneous glass photonegatives and lantern slides, originally housed in cardboard plate boxes, some containing newspaper clipping separators with dates as late as 1961. Subjects include a flood in 1911, family photographs and portraits, and buildings, with labels indicating locations such as Chicago, St. Paul, and damage from World War II in England, France, Germany, and Greece. The lantern slides depict historical art subjects and may be academic lecture materials.
