Series 4: Photographic Materials, 1956-2003, undated

Contains color and black and white photographic prints in addition to negatives documenting Gaskin's professional life as a musician and family man. Professional engagements include recording sessions, and performances at weddings, birthday celebrations, memorial tributes, jazz festivals, clubs, and schools. Most venues are in New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut. One career highlight is his appearance, by invitation, to play for President Bill Clinton's congressional ball at the White House. Starting in the 1970s Gaskin performed frequently in Europe primarily playing summer festivals, and photographs document performances in London, France, Edinburgh, and Switzerland. Family appears to have been a very important part of Gaskin's life as he documented activities primarily relating to family members and friends Leonard Jr., Poppy, Zachary, Mady, Rick, and Spencer. Gaskin maintained photographs in envelopes carefully captioning and dating them in most but not all cases. These photographs were rehoused into polyester sleeves and arranged in chronological order. The subjects of the photographs were created by Leonard Gaskin and appear in the container list as they did on the envelopes. Photograph albums were assembled by Gaskin and are arranged in chronological order.

Series 5: Scrapbooks, 1923-2004, undated

Consists of material mostly relating to performances dating primarily from the 1940s to the early 2000s. Materials include musician organizations information, magazine articles, newspaper clippings, photographs, business cards, correspondence, discographies, promotional literature, greeting cards, and programs. Major tours and/ or events include the 1948 Caribbean and South American tour with Ray Nathan and his American Band, with stops in Trinidad and British Guiana. There is information relating to his France and Netherlands tour in 1991 and the jazz symposium in Senegal in 1994. In addition, President Bill Clinton's congressional ball at the White House is included among these materials. The earliest scrapbooks contain Gaskin's family photographs and his elementary school diploma. Scrapbooks are arranged in chronological order.

Series 6: Music Manuscripts, Published Sheet Music, and Song Folios, 1895-1992, undated

Contains material maintained by Gaskin as part of his music library for performance purposes. The largest portion of this series is the music manuscripts. There is also a substantial amount of published sheet music. In addition, his music library includes song folios published in 1938 and a small number of dance guides. The music is arranged first by type and then in alphabetical order by the song title. Remaining materials appear after the music.
