Biographical / Historical

Strand Opera House opened in 1909 in Ipswich, Massachusetts, and showcased operas, travelling shows, symphonies, and plays. After a destructive fire in 1930, the Strand reopened as a movie theatre owned by Phil Smith and Theatrical Enterprises. This theatre catered to locals as well as out-of-town upscale clientele, and it proudly screened first run films.

Content Description

The collection consists of over 420 daily programs for the Strand Theatre in Ipswich, Massachusetts. Also included are two photographs of the theater and about a dozen flyers, tickets, and advertising materials.

Arrangement

The collection is arranged into three series. The programs are arranged chronologically.

Series 1: Programs, 1927, 1930-1943

Series 2: Tickets, undated

Series 3: Photographs, undated
