Paul Chaat Smith

Paul Chaat Smith is a Comanche author, essayist, and curator. His books and exhibitions focus on the contemporary landscape of American Indian politics and culture. With Robert Warrior, he is the author of "Like a Hurricane: the Indian Movement from Alcatraz to Wounded Knee" (New Press, 1996), a standard text in Native studies and American history courses. His second book, Everything You Know about Indians Is Wrong, was published in 2009 by the University of Minnesota Press.

Smith's twenty-three-year tenure as a Smithsonian curator has spanned the development of the NMAI's inaugural history exhibition, a string of popular and influential contemporary Native art shows, and the forthcoming traveling version of 2018's renowned Americans. He delivered the Distinguished Critic Lecture of the Association of International Art Critics in 2017, and in 2024 was awarded the Tony Horwitz Prize for "distinguished work in American history of wide appeal and enduring public significance." Smith has lectured widely at museums and universities across the United States, as well as Copenhagen, Belo Horizonte, Vancouver, Edmonton, and Montreal. In March 2023, he toured New Zealand as a representative of the US State Department's Art in Embassies program.

Smith lives in Baltimore. His middle name is pronounced "chot," and rhymes with hot. He has no college or university degrees.

Robert Allen Warrior

Robert Allen Warrior (Osage, 1963-) was born in Kansas and began writing at sixteen years old. As a graduate student he dedicated himself to journalism on Native issues. He went on to be a history professor and helped found the Native American and Indigenous Studies Association. He co-wrote "Like a Hurricane: the Indian Movement from Alcatraz to Wounded Knee" (New Press, 1996) with Paul Chaat Smith. He has written extensively on native issues and received multiple awards for his work.

Scope and Contents

This collection contains materials used by Paul Chaat Smith and Robert Allen Warrior to write their book "Like a Hurricane."

Series 1 contains interview schedules and notes as well as audio recordings of interviews with AIM leaders, activists, government officials, and others who witnessed or were involved with the events covered in "Like a Hurricane." It also contains recordings of broadcast and event audio from the Alcatraz occupation, the wounded knee occupation, the National Congress of the American Indians, and the Trail of Broken Treaties.

Series 2 contains historical timelines of the events in "Like A Hurricane," book notes, and chapter drafts. Correspondence between Paul Chaat Smith, Robert Allen Warrior, and their publisher is also included.

Series 3 contains source lists, newspaper clippings from many sources including the American Indian Press Association, and photographs of AIM leaders as well as materials copied from federal archives including the Hoover Institution, Nixon Project, and the National Archives and Records Administration.

Episode 2 of Radio Free Alcatraz, airing 1969-12-29, starts with John Trudell explaining problems with electricity generation on Alcatraz Island followed by an interview with Jonny Bearcub (now Jonny Bearcub Stiffarm), a member of the Fort Peck Assiniboine Sioux Nation. Episode 3, recorded and broadcast 1969-12-31, begins with the KPFA announcer explaining that they were waiting for the connection to be made with Alcatraz Island, and soon John Trudell reports in from the island, saying that they were having problems with their generator. Trudell then interviews Bernel Blindman, a student majoring in social welfare at Berkeley, originally from Pine Ridge reservation in South Dakota. Episode 4, recorded and broadcast 1970-01-05, included a news report from the island, followed by an interview with Douglas

Remington and Linda Aranaydo regarding their work with the school on the island, which was seeking accreditation as a private school."

That was John Trudell of the Indians of All Tribes on Alcatraz, speaking with Denny Smithson. The assistant to the regional inspector of the General Services

Administration, Richard Davis, said today, "I presume the Indians started the fire themselves." Mr. Trudell, as you heard, denied the charge, and also said another boat was heard leaving the island shortly before the fires were discovered. Episode 30 - 1970-06-04, "We need medical supplies" request by John Trudell. He reports that a lot of people are sick with flu and colds. Episode 31 - 1970-06-04, Trudell reports on clean up work and tourism to island. "No guns stockpiled." Government smear campaign. "Just leave us alone." Episode 32 - 1970-06-11, Recorded in studio at KPFA with Claude Marks. Talks about problems including cancellation of insurance on boat that was going to be used to bring out tourists. Episode 33 - 1970-07-09, begins by talking about how he missed a few weeks because he was busy. Talks about how Buffy St. Marie was there and solidarity reality in San Francisco. Aquatic Park, Pit River Indians were there last Sunday. Our biggest problem - getting water."
