Descriptive Entry

This accession consists of records documenting the creation of audiovisual productions for the National Museum of American History exhibition, "Information Age: People, Information and Technology." This permanent exhibition chronicles the birth and growth of the electronic information age with a special focus on how information technology has changed the way people live and work. Audiovisual pieces of this exhibition include a theater and an award-winning 12-screen video wall. Materials in this accession include a master composite, dubmasters, straight transfers, dubs, and viewing copies.
