Administrative Information

Preferred Citation

Smithsonian Institution Archives, Accession 08-050, National Zoological Park. Directorate for Conservation and Research, Training Program Records

Descriptive Entry

This accession consists of records documenting conservation and wildlife management training programs led by the Directorate of Conservation and Science and its predecessor offices, Species Conservation Center and Department of Zoological Research, in countries around the world. The records were maintained by Rasanayagam Rudran, a conservation biologist and the National Zoological Park's Conservation Officer. Some records also document Rudran's research, primarily related to howler monkeys in Venezuela. Materials include proposals, reports, correspondence, fundraising materials, agreements, course evaluations, images, and videotapes. Some materials are in electronic format.
