Smithsonian Institution Archives, Accession 14-160, Smithsonian Institution, Website Records

Descriptive Entry

This accession consists of the "Seriously Amazing" website maintained by the Smithsonian Institution. It is dedicated to exciting the learning in everyone, everyday, by asking and answering questions (called "SI-Qs") about science, art, history, and culture. The questions are symbolized by seven quirky characters that help show why the Smithsonian Institution is "Seriously Amazing." The website was crawled on October 24, 2012, and again on January 2, 2014. Due to technical difficulties, a limited number of SI-Qs were captured during each crawl and some graphics do not properly render. Materials are in electronic format.
