Descriptive Entry

This accession consists of the "Smithsonian GeoGallery" website, maintained by the Department of Mineral Sciences, as it existed on May 17, 2016. This website allows users to search or browse the National Museum of Natural History's collection of gems, minerals, meteorites, and rocks. This accession may not include all of the collection data available on the live website. Due to technical issues, many features in this crawled website do not function as expected. Materials are in electronic format.
