Descriptive Entry

This accession consists of the "Forces of Change" website as it existed in July 2016. The website highlights climate change research and includes research findings, activity guides for teachers, and links to external resources, all organized by topic. The "Atmosphere: Change is in the Air" section of the website was crawled on July 20, 2016, and the "Arctic: A Friend Acting Strangely" section was crawled on July 21, 2016. Files for the entire website were transferred from the server as well. In early 2017, the website was transferred from the National Museum of Natural History to the Smithsonian Environmental Research Center. Due to technical issues, some features do not function as expected. Materials are in electronic format.
