Administrative Information

Preferred Citation

Smithsonian Institution Archives, Accession 18-256, Smithsonian Environmental Research Center, Website Records

---

Descriptive Entry

This accession consists of the "Forces of Change" website as it existed on May 30, 2017, shortly after it was transferred from the National Museum of Natural History to the Smithsonian Environmental Research Center. The website highlights climate change research and includes research findings, activity guides for teachers, and links to external resources, all organized by topic. Due to technical issues, some features do not function as expected. Materials are in electronic format.
