Descriptive Entry

This accession consists of three subsites maintained by the Smithsonian Tropical Research Institute (STRI). The Training in Tropical Taxonomy subsite, crawled April 9, 2019, provides information about past and future training courses offered through STRI's Bocas del Toro Research Station in Panama. The website also includes information about the program, instructors, and participants as well as educational resources. The text is available in both English and Spanish.

The Biodiversity of Panama and Biodiversity of Barro Colorado Island subsites provide taxonomical information for species found in those locations. For both subsites, only the English text was captured in this accession, not the Spanish, and taxonomic information may be incomplete due to technical issues. The Biodiversity of Panama subsite was crawled twice on April 22, 2019. The Biodiversity of Barro Colorado Island subsite was crawled once on the April 22, 2019.

Materials are in electronic format.
