Descriptive Entry

This accession consists of the "Properties of Matter" website, a resource guide for a module of the Science and Technology Concepts for Middle Schools curriculum. The website was crawled twice on December 13, 2018, shortly before it was taken offline. Although the website has been maintained by the Smithsonian Science Education Center, it has not been updated since approximately 2012 and reflects the Center's previous name, National Science Resources Center (NSRC). NSRC was jointly administered by the Smithsonian Institution and the National Academies. Materials are in electronic format.
