Smithsonian Institution Archives, Accession 21-094, National Air and Space Museum, Website Records

Descriptive Entry

This accession consists of the "CoPilot" website maintained by the National Air and Space Museum (NASM) as it existed in April 2020, shortly before it was taken offline. "CoPilot" was optimized for use on mobile devices and was intended to be used as a companion guide while visiting NASM's Steven F. Udvar Hazy Center. It could be explored by theme or individual object and provided images, text, and audio. The website was captured manually on April 3, 2020, and was crawled on April 6, 2020. Due to technical issues, both the capture and the crawl are missing some images and audio, but each contains content that the other does not. Materials are in electronic format.
